PSO PERKS then had a brief conversation to the woman saying that she shouldn't tailgate other staff members and whether she had her card on her. She apologised and quickly left the site. PSO PERKS, thought her behaviour was rather strange and didn't recognise her so he decided to review the CCTV footage.  After reviewing the footage PSO PERKS saw that the lady approached a staff member leaving the rear entrance of Education at about 1712 (on the opposite side of the building to where the PSO's are stationed) and seems to ask for directions. The staff member talks to her and gestures towards the female toilets.  The lady then tail gates into the building after another staff member leaves and makes her way into the female toilets. Both staff members take no notice of this and fail to let the PSOs at the desk know that this has occurred. The lady then exits the female toilets and makes her way to the front entrance where PSO PERKS originally saw her.  PSO PERKS believes that this person is not a staff member of the site and member of the public who was let in and not challenged by staff members.
